PROJECT MANAGEMENT

The top project management competencies—communication, leadership, decision making, business acumen, organization, negotiation ability, and strategic thinking—are now considered requisite skills for nearly all in-demand careers. The depth and breadth of a project manager's toolkit is what makes them effective drivers of change. By utilizing defining goals and managing the energy of a project's stakeholders, Project Managers are strategic players in an organization's success.

Bryant's Project Management Certificate is aligned with the Project Management Institute's Body of Knowledge (PMBOK®) and best practices. The PMBOK® methodology is integrated into all course materials and supporting case studies to enable you to prepare for the PMP® or CAPM® Exam. In an increasingly projectized world, PMI® professional certification ensures that you're ready to meet the demands of projects and employers across the globe.

This Project Management Certificate assists you in understanding industry best practices, language, terminology, and related leadership skills immediately applicable in the workplace. Our program also satisfies the required 35 educational hours to sit for PMI certification.

Become a valuable member of your organization by gaining the abilities to take ownership of projects and inspire a sense of purpose within the project team.

Course Description

Project managers are change agents: they take ownership of project goals and use their skills and expertise to inspire a sense of shared purpose within the project team. Course is taught by PMI-certified PMP® instructors and aligned with national certification to enable you to understand the human side of project management, perceive approaches for Agile, iterative, and adaptive environments, and understand how to prepare for the PMP® or CAPM® Exam.

Audience

This course is designed for individuals with varying backgrounds and experiences. This course is for anyone relatively new to project management or for those who are currently working on projects. All courses provide the skills and current industry best practices which must be learned and perfected by current project management professionals seeking to remain current in their field and/or earn the 35 educational hours needed to sit for PMI certification.

This course was designed and prepared specifically for project managers to understand their important, key role in managing and supporting key projects that align with and support organizational strategic plans.

Course Information

The Project Management certificate is available in virtual instructor-led and online self-paced courses. Both courses are designed with the same learning outcomes.
